

1. GHB (Gamma-Hydroxybutyrate): Known for its sedative properties and often associated with cases of drug-facilitated sexual assault. It can cause rapid onset of drowsiness and loss of consciousness, especially when combined with alcohol.
2. Ketamine: Used medically as an anesthetic, ketamine can induce states of dissociation, which may lead to loss of consciousness when taken recreationally or in high doses.
3. Rohypnol: Often referred to as "roofies," this drug is notorious for its use in sexual assaults. It can cause profound sedation, memory loss, and loss of consciousness.